The Elektrotechnische Werke in Erfurt (J36), now a Soviet A.G. and formerly Telefunken, exported "E-tubes" and "U-tubes" to Bulgaria in November and December 1946. The firm was producing about 18,000 of these tubes a month as of December 1946. An estimated 20-25 thousand tubes had been exported to Bulgaria by mid-December 1946.

[REDACTED] "E-tube" probably stands for Empfängerröhre - detector tube, while "U-tube" may be an error for "V-tube" or Verstärkeröhre - amplifier tube.)
